

The ECRR donors, partners and sponsors.

From the articles.

1. A donor shall be anyone that has been admitted to the Association by the Board in that capacity and that pays a contribution to the Association, the minimum to be determined to the Board.
2. The Board may set different categories of donors, according to different payment levels.
3. The Board is, at all times, authorized to determine the donor status by giving a written notice.
4. The Board may grant rights to the donors.

Donors.

In general a donor is a supporter of the Association who makes a financial contribution/donation, without restrictions, that can be used to support the work of ECRR. A donor has no formal obligations under the articles of the Association.

The ECRR has at present no donors.

Partners.

In general a partner is a member in a partnership, an entity in which both the profit or losses of a business or venture are shared between the members.

The ECRR is at present not a member of a formal partnership. However, was in the past for organizing the International River Restoration Conferences. (Not the European River Symposium!).

Sponsors

1. A firm, company, institution, organisation that underwrites a part of the whole of the expense of staging a public event through contributions in cash or in kind, and allowed to display advertising banners or to otherwise promote itself or its products during the sponsored event.
2. Advertiser who pays (in part or in full) the costs of a publication in any form by adding an advertisement of itself or its products to the publication.

The ECRR has no current sponsor contracts.

Proposal.

1. Identifying potential donors.
2. Partnership contracts for e.g. the European River Symposium can only be considered if the financial risks can be worn.
3. Identify potential sponsors for the ECRR website, newsletter and other publications.
